Industry Trends & Challenges

With a risk of downtime and loss, organizations are hesitant to move their SAP workloads to the cloud despite its improved security and performance. Previously tackled by many businesses in the entertainment industry, Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) systems are becoming increasingly difficult and expensive to scale for growth with growing interactions with Initial Public Offerings (IPOs), international expansions, and mergers and acquisitions (M&As). Organizations often struggle with a lack of integration between disparate and complex systems and the emergence of burning platforms.
