

Amazon Data Center Investment in New Zealand

Amazon's investment in data center infrastructure in the AWS Asia Pacific (New Zealand) Region is expected to lead to a ripple effect across the New Zealand economy and the business and local community, creating employment opportunities, accelerating productivity gains, empowering digital transformation, and upskilling the workforce.

An overview of Amazon data center investment in New Zealand and estimated economic impact<sup>1</sup>

NZ$7.5 billion investment

Total investment associated with the AWS Asia Pacific (New Zealand) Region

NZ$10.8
billion GDP<sup>2</sup>

Estimated gross domestic product (GDP) contributed to New Zealand by the AWS Asia Pacific (New Zealand) Region

More than 1,000 jobs

Estimated average full-time equivalent (FTE)
jobs annually supported by the AWS Asia Pacific
(New Zealand) Region

<sup>1</sup> All figures are presented in New Zealand dollars.

<sup>2</sup> These estimates are derived from internal data, the input-output (I-O) model, and statistical data provided by the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD). The GDP contribution by the AWS Asia Pacific (New Zealand) Region reflects the value added by AWS to the IT sector in New Zealand, as well as the direct, indirect, and induced effects of AWS purchases from the data center supply chain in New Zealand.