Customer Success Story: Helly Hansen

Challenge:
Helly Hansen, one of the leading global manufacturers of sports equipment and outdoor clothing, sought to scale their e-commerce operations across multiple storefronts and geographies while maintaining site uptime. It was imperative for the organization to enable each of their local regions to control content experiences in order to personalize the consumer journey across every platform and channel.

Results:
After adopting Adobe Commerce and AWS, Helly Hansen successfully launched a catalogue of more than 35,000 products in over 19 countries. Leveraging the scalable, secure merchandising capabilities and commerce solutions offered in the Adobe Commerce and AWS product suite, the global commerce brand created 55 online store views in 7 different languages that incorporated multiple local payment options. With comprehensive, cloud-based solutions to digitally transform every facet of the e-commerce experience, Helly Hansen drove a 24% increase in traffic and a 50% increase in mobile traffic.
